On July 14th 2015, Microsoft's support for Windows Server 2003 will cease forever, meaning that countless businesses will be prone to security risks, compliance problems and downtime.

Time is running out. We strongly advise any business currently using Windows Server 2003 to upgrade to a 64-bit operating system such as Windows Server 2012.

EVENT SYNOPSIS

At this informative seminar, which takes place at NVT Group Headquarters in Bellshill, you'll find out the following:

What the end of support for Windows Server 2003 means for you

The benefits of Windows Server 2012 and its improved capabilities

How to ensure your migration to Windows Server 2012 is completely trouble free.

During the seminar, our technology partners Dell will introduce ChangeBASE and Asset Manager software which, when used together, help accelerate migration projects by automating the discovery, assessment, remediation and standardisation of your computer applications. This not only makes it easier to identify compatibility issues early and fix them, but also provides a way to ensure ongoing application savings and efficiencies.

Food and refreshments will be provided.

WHO THE SEMINAR IS FOR

If you are concerned about the support for Windows Server 2003 coming to an end in July and are looking for trouble free ways in which to make the transition to a supported operating system then this seminar is most definitely for you.
